Every Child Ready to Read!
New workshop available through the Greenville County Library System

Greenville, SC - The Greenville County Library System is offering a new workshop for child caregivers: Every Child Ready to Read. This program will give all parents, guardians, caregivers and day care providers the opportunity to jump-start reading interest for their little ones! Children are never too young to begin their love affair with books; this program is designed to explain the most effective ways to promote reading to infants and preschoolers.

We will come to your home, school or business with our new workshop. Call 242-5000 x2249 to schedule an appointment with one of our expert staff members. This workshop usually lasts a little over an hour and works best with groups of 12 or more, so gather your friends and co-workers and begin your child's journey towards adventure, fun and learning!
